PREFACE.

We have used all the means at our command and exercised the greatest care in the preparation of the present issue of the FORT WAYNE DIRECTORY, and confidently believe that our patrons will find the Work as accurate and complete as it is possible to make a book of the kind.

The Work embraces a General Directory—embracing a full list of the names and locations of the inhabitants of the City; a complete Business Directory—containing the name of each person and firm doing business in Fort Wayne; with a City Guide—containing the names of all the Streets, Alleys, Lanes and Avenues, giving their location and termini; also, the names of all Public Institutions, Banks, Churches, Societies, &c., in the City; together with a United States Post Office DIRECTORY—containing the name and location of every Post Office in the United States and Territorics, arranged alphabetically, and corrected up to date. Also, a well-written "Sketch of the City of Fort Wayne," prepared expressly for our Work by a prominent citizen of the place, to whom we return our thanks for the interesting matter thereby added to our volume.

Our General Directory will be found to contain about five thousand names of heads of families, adults, &c., whose localities could be fixed, and upon this basis, experience gained in other cities, would justify us in estimating the present population of the City of Fort Wayne at from sixteen to eighteen thousand—which fact not only indicates the rapid growth and importance of the City, but also the necessity for the ANNUAL publication of a City Directory.

The materials for this volume were mainly collected and arranged by our assistant compiler, H. Thornton Bennett, and to his experience and diligence the public are indebted for the completeness of the Work.

The Compilers return their thanks to the Press for the many flattering notices given during the canvass, and to the business men and citizens of the City for their patronage and very courteous treatment, and sincerely hope that their Directory for 1864-5 will meet with the approval of mercantile, professional and business men of the community, and be a fit representative of the public spirit and commercial importance of the CITY OF FORT WAYNE.

SKETCH OF FORT WAYNE.

Fort Wayne, situated on an elevated plain, at the junction of the St. Mary's and St. Joseph Rivers, has from an early period been a point of great interest. As early as 1700, the French visited it for the purpose of trade with the Indians, and prior to 1719 they established here a regular Trading Post, and it became one of their most important commercial centres. In the Miami dialect, the place was called Ke-ki-oug-gay, and Ke-ki-ouge in the Pottawattamie. Vandreuil, Governor of Louisiana, writing in 1751, located "Fort Miami" at this point. It was a small stockade fort, built by the French, situated near the St. Mary's, probably in the vicinity of the canal aqueduct. The dim outlines of this Fort were traced by General Wayne, in 1794, and by Colonel John Johnston, in 1800.

At different periods, four nations have held dominion here. The untutored Indian for centuries; and for half a century prior to the conquest of Canada, the tri-colored flag waved at the meeting of the St. Joseph and the St. Mary's; after that, in December, 1760, the British flag was run up in its stead, upon a fort erected upon the east bank of the St. Joseph, near its mouth. May 27, 1763, during Pontiac's war, a small garrison stationed there, was massacred through the treacherous influence of the French traders over the Indians. This was about the last exertion of French power on this continent, east of the Mississippi.

The Declaration of Independence, in 1776, was the commencement of an era that established the rule of the United States as the fourth power that reigned over this region, and still reigns, greater than all that preceded it. The sagacious mind of Washington, at an early period, fixed upon the junction of the rivers as of commanding importance for a strong military post; and the main purpose of the campaign of 1791, was for its occupation as a center of military operations for the North-West. His plans contemplated a garrison of one thousand or twelve hundred men, but the defeat of General St. Clair, within a day's march, defeated his well-matured plans, and at that time the American army failed to occupy this favorite rendezvous of the savage Indians—this "Federal city" of the tribes that formed the Miami confederation.

In 1794, the United States were more successful. After defeating the Indians at the Rapids of the Maumee, Gen. Wayne marched to this point, and selected here a commanding site for a fort; and in October of that year, "Fort Wayne" was completed. From that period, and bearing that name, for now sixty-nine years, this has been a center of American civilization and power. It continued to grow in importance until 1825, when the first plat of the town was made, and it was laid out and incorporated as the "Town of Fort Wayne." Since that time there has been a steady, uniform and healthy progress.

From time to time numerous additions have been made to the original plat—November, 1833, the County Addition; October, 1836, Ewing's, and May, 1837, Hanna's Addition, with many others since, that have extended the limits of the town something over two miles east and west, and nearly the same distance north and south; and the population has kept equal pace with its enlarged dimension.

In 1828, the population of the town and its immediate vicinity, was estimated at about 500; and in 1830 it was computed at about 800. In the winter of 1839 a Charter was granted by the Legislature for a City corporation, and on the 2d day of March, 1840, a vote of the citizens was taken upon the adoption or rejection of the Charter, which was adopted. The population was then about 1,200; in 1850, it reached 4,200; and in 1860 it was 10,300; at the present time, from the rapid growth of the past three years, the population must exceed 16,000.

The causes that produced this rapid growth, are apparent. The commanding situation of the town, in the center of a large and fertile scope of country that sought this point for trade, with no competing town, and the facilities for export and import, were important elements in its growth. The facilities for this commerce, resulted from the important internal improvements constructed so as to make this an important point in their routes.

The first of these was the Wabash and Erie Canal, completed from the west in 1838, and from the east in the fall of 1842, thus connecting Fort Wayne with Lake Erie, at Toledo. By affording the means of shipping direct to the Lake, the canal drew the trade of a large region of country, north and south, immediately to this point. The water power resulting from this improvement, furnished facilities for the erection of mills and manufactories that were of great importance in its progress; and from this period it took a pew start, and this impetus continued till the era of Plank Roads, in 1848. These roads were constructed with much energy and rapidity to a great distance in every direction, attracting an increased trade from a large and fertile section of country. Lastly came the Railroads. The Ohio & Indiana R. R. was first located, in 1852, and completed in 1854. The Fort Wayne & Chicago R. R. commenced in 1854, and completed in 1857, which two roads being consolidated with the Ohio & Pennsylvania R. R., constitute the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago R. R. Company, making a line 467 miles in length, and inferior in importance to no road in the United States, and equal to any in its management and success.

Next followed the Toledo & Western Railroad, located in 1854 and completed in 1856, connecting Lake Eric with the Mississippi.

Aside from the travel and freight brought to Fort Wayne, thus adding largely to its commerce, it has the fortunate position of being a central point on these great lines, and hence was the best location for their extensive shops, for repair and the building of rolling machinery, for both the roads. They therefore erected shops so extensive that they should be visited and examined, to properly realize their magnitude and importance.

The T. & W. R. W. buildings consist of a round-house, 140 feet in diameter, with capacity for 24 engines; brick machine shop, 100 feet wide by 160 feet long; blacksmith shop, 40 feet wide and 160 feet long; wood shop, 30 feet wide and 200 feet long. These shops give constant employment for near 400 men, with a monthly pay-roll of $30,000.

The shops of the P., Ft. W. & C. R. W. exceed in size and importance in direct ratio with the increased length of the Road, and embrace a brick depot, two stories, 190 feet long by 70 feet freight house, 200 feet by 60 feet; car shop, main building, two stories, 220 feet by 75 feet, with two wings. one story, 188 feet by 75 feet each; machine and blacksmith shop, 327 feet by 65 feet, two stories, with two wings for engine and boiler shops, each 100 feet by 50; round-house, 60 feet deep by 308 feet in diameter, with stalls for 40 engines. In the spring a new machine shop will be erected, two stories, 300 feet by 150. These shops cover six acres of ground, and furnish full employment for over 600 mechanics and laborers, with a pay-roll of over $40,000 per month. With the projected enlargement, the employees will not be less than 900, with a pay-roll of at least $75,000 per month. The car shop averages 50 new cars per month, requiring a constant supply of 700,000 feet of lumber, at a cost of $12,000 per month. The other shops require an outlay in proportion, for the materials used by them. Such immense expenditures by these two Roads do a large share to keep up the prosperity of the city, and are a permanent element in its growth.

Following the Railroad improvements, in March, 1855, the Fort Wayne Gas Company was incorporated and works at once creeted so as to light the city in October. The amount of pipe now laid is over five miles, extending through the greater part of the city.

While thus contemplating the Public Works as the great cause of rapid growth, private enterprise must not be overlooked as an equally important element in the rapid increase and prosperity of the town.

The extensive water power of the canal and rivers has led to the erection of some seven extensive merchant mills, whose manufacture command the highest price in the Eastern market. Also, eight planing mills and sash and door factories, employing over 200 men, to whom they give constant employment, together with four large steam tanneries, with work for 150 men.

Prominent among private enterprises are the machine shops and foundries of the "Fort Wayne Machine Works" of Bowser & Story and of Murray & Bennigin, employing in all over 150 men, with an aggregate pay-roll of $20,000 per month. All these works are employed to their fullest capacity, and are unable to keep up with the demand for their work, which is of the most superior character and finish.

The large woolen factory of French, Hanna & Co., four stories in height, 105 feet in length by 55 feet in width, giving employment for forty workmen, with a demand for their manufacture that they can not supply, is another important enterprise. Also, the extensive hub, spoke and bending factory of Olds, Hanna & Co., with employment for 70 men, and unable to meet the increasing call for their work. Nor must the large cabinet works of J. M. Miller, employing from 40 to 50 men, be overlooked. These, with numerous other manufactories, which the limits of this sketch do not permit a full description, are all elements of growth and prosperity, and readily account for our rapid progress, which is sure to be permanent, as the exhaustless supply of timber, of the finest quality, is attracting attention, and as the result, two large establishments are in course of erection for the manufacture of reapers, mowers and separators, with other agricultural implements. The buildings are nearly completed and by spring will be in active operation, and when fully completed will employ some 300 men each, with a monthly outlay of over $50,000. One is located in the Lewis Addition, at the junction of the Railroads, the other in the North-Side Addition, on the Canal Feeder.

Turning from this view of the public works and private manufactures to the commerce of the city, equal prosperity is apparent, and it has an amount and variety of trade not excelled by any city of its population in the West. Dry goods stores number 25; hardware and stoves, 15; boots and shoes, 30; grocery and provision, over 70; drug, book and jewelry stores, 17; clothing and hat stores, 15, with various other stores doing miscellaneous trade. The business of some of the houses exceed $200,000 annually, and all are in a healthy and sound condition, and the credit of no merchants in the West stands higher than those of Fort Wayne.

In its banking and financial resources it is also behind none, and it is sufficient to name the Branch of the Bank of the State, the banking house of Allen, Hamilton & Co., and the First National Bank, as evidence of the sound basis of our finances.

The most important items in a notice of the advantages of any city are the intellectual and religious privileges, and in these particulars Fort Wayne stands high. Three daily papers with large circulation and well supported, together with five weeklies—two in the German language—in connection with her large and well constructed free school edifices, with the schools admirably conducted, and educating, in the most thorough manner, in all the branches of study, 1,068 scholars, together with denominational and private schools of a superior order: the "Concordia University" and the Fort Wayne Female College—all are evidences of the superior advantages it possesses for intellectual culture.

The fifteen churches, some of them of the largest dimensions and of a high order of architecture, well supported with large and attentive congregations—all speak in highest terms as to the religious privileges and character of her people.

In the general appearance of the city—in the character and extent of the buildings, embracing over two hundred three and four story brick stores, with elegant and costly brick dwellings in proportion; a magnificent Court-house, costing some $80,000; the Aveline House, and other structures—all tell for the enterprise and taste of the population, and are the best evidence of prosperity and growth. The extent of building for the past year of large and extensive shops, of fine stores and dwellings has been such as to attract the attention and admiration of strangers, and is not surpassed, if equaled, by any city in the State, and the contracts already made with the prospective building for the next year promise far to exceed the present.

With a growth and prosperity founded upon so substantial a basis, little is hazarded in stating that the population of sixteen thousand in 1863 will exceed thirty thousand at the next census, and that few towns present so strong inducements to the merchant, mechanic, and business men of every class, for a permanent residence.
